Mrs Wilson is getting ready for the family's trip to Hong Kong tomorrow. The children are watching TV.

'We're lucky it's summer in Hong Kong now. We don't have to take so many warm clothes with us,' Mrs Wilson says, as she puts some T-shirts in the bag.

5 'Yes, but look, Mum, it'll be cold here in London tomorrow. We should wear our coats when we go to the airport,' Paul says.

'Alright. Children, remember to bring your binoculars. We'll go to Mai Po and watch the birds there on the third day,' Mrs Wilson says.

'Will we go hiking in Mai Po?' asks Lily.

10 'No, we won't because there isn't a hill there. We'll go to the Peak the next day and we can go for a little hike there. It's a good place to go hiking because the view there is great,' Mr Wilson says.

'We'll have dinner at the Peak too. We can also enjoy the view at the restaurant,' says Mrs Wilson.

15 'I don't like hiking or looking at the view. They're both boring,' Paul says.

'Don't worry, Paul. You'll love riding on the Peak Tram. It's very exciting. It's even better than the rides at an amusement park,' Mrs Wilson says.

'I hope so,' Paul says. 'OK. I'll go to bed now because we need to wake up early tomorrow.'
